The Epiphany

OF THE LORD

January 2, 2022

Magi from the east arrived in Jerusalem, saying, “Where is the newborn king of the Jews?
We saw his star at its rising and have come to do him homage.”
Matthew 2:1-2

Christmas is a season of abundance. Christmas cookies and carols. Parties and presents. Mangers and mistletoe. The same is true in our church. Within a period of nine days we celebrate Christmas, the Holy Family, Mary Mother of God, and today the Solemnity of the Epiphany. Truly an embarrassment of liturgical riches. (And we are not finished yet!)

However, for many people, Christmas is already over. Trees litter the curbside or make their way back to the attic. Presents are put away or returned. We prepare to go back to school or work. But as Christians we have barely dipped our toes into the profound mystery of a God who walks among us. What kind of a God is this whose kingdom is not limited by our borders, fears, expectations, or imaginations? Today's psalm reminds us, "Lord, every nation on earth will adore you." Diversity and inclusion are not new to God's agenda.

TRADITIONS UNCOVER MEANING

Two traditional rituals, one liturgical and one domestic, help underline the meaning of the Epiphany. The Proclamation of the Date of Easter is an option for inclusion at Mass today. This text which formally announces the dates of the upcoming major feast days reminds us that Christmas is best honored in the context of the whole story of salvation that culminates in Easter. Or as writer Nathan Mitchell reflects, the wood of the crib becomes the wood of the cross.

The second tradition connected to Epiphany is the blessing of the door of one's home with chalk. It includes a prayer for protection for all who enter therein. One explanation of this tradition ties it to the Passover in the Book of Exodus: the marking of the doorposts with the blood of the lamb kept the Israelites safe. This tradition too offers a connection between Christmas and Easter.

As we continue to mine the richness of this season we hum along with the angels, Gloria in excelsis Deo!

One can Give without Loving...But one cannot Love without Giving.

Pope's Intention for January:

For true human fraternity. We pray for all those suffering from religious discrimination and persecution; may their own rights and dignity be recognized, which originate from being brothers and sisters in the human family.

Reflection question:

What can I do this week to come to know God better?

PRAYER OF THE WEEK

The Epiphany of the Lord
At the Mass during the Day
O God, who on this day revealed your Only Begotten Son to the nations
by the guidance of a star, grant in your mercy
that we, who know you already by faith,
may be brought to behold the beauty of your sublime glory.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
God, for ever and ever.

JOURNEY TOWARD GOD

In our celebration of the Epiphany, two interwoven themes are present in the readings today. God is beginning something new, and God gathers all of humanity to participate. For Isaiah, God's bright light, manifested in the people of Israel, attracts and summons people from many nations to Jerusalem. In the letter to the Ephesians, God's grace makes the Gentiles co-heirs and co-partners in the gospel. Matthew tells the story of the fulfillment of God's promises to Israel through the birth of Jesus, and simultaneously leading foreigners to share in these same promises. With the birth of Jesus, God chose a particular people, in a particular time and place, to enter most directly into the human story. Today's readings teach that God did this in order to gather all people, all cultures, into unity with God. Like the magi, we are drawn into a journey toward God, becoming co-partners in God's work.

Looking for a Director of Religious Education (DRE) for our parish. If you are interested and have questions, please call the office at 903-769-3235 for more information.

We are still looking for an organist for our parish. If you are interested; you know of someone, or have ideas please call the office at 903-769-3235.

So, what about New Year's traditions in other parts of the world? An online article by Melanie Hamilton (<https://bigseventravel.com/most-fascinating-new-year-traditions-around-the-globe/>) provides a few insights. ...

A Bit of History on the New Year Holiday - The earliest celebrations of the New Year can be traced back 4,000 years to ancient Babylon. The Babylonians followed a lunar calendar and kicked off the start of the new year on the first new moon following the spring equinox (this would fall around late March). To commemorate the day, they held a massive religious festival lasting eleven days, named Atiku. Derived from the Sumerian word for barley, Atiku was all about the spring harvest. Each of the eleven days would include a different ritual in honor of the Babylonian sky god Marduk. Two thousand some odd years ago, when Julius Caesar realigned the calendar with the sun, he declared January 1 a national holiday for the New Year. January was aptly named after the Roman god Janus who had two faces – one forward-facing and one backwards. Very poetic given that New Year's Day symbolizes the closure of an old year and beginning of a new one.

Fascinating New Year Traditions from Around the Globe

Ashes and Bubbles – Russia. Russians celebrate the onset of the New Year in a number of ways, but the most interesting is the use of ashes. One popular tradition on NYE is to write down your wishes for the upcoming year on a small piece of paper. Afterwards, burn the paper and drop it into your champagne glass to drink at the stroke of midnight. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Russian: "S Novim Godom"

'First Footing' – Scotland. If you plan to celebrate New Year the Scottish way, you better not come empty-handed. In Scotland, they celebrate Hogmanay which involves the traditions of 'first-footing.' The custom says that the first person to cross the threshold of a home on the New Year sets the tone for the year. Because of this, when visiting a house on New Year's Eve or New Year's Day, you should always bring a gift for good luck. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Scots: "Haud Hogmanay!"

Grapes and Cava – Spain. In Spain, it's customary to eat 12 grapes ... Celebrators chomp on one grape for each ring of the midnight clock which symbolizes the months now gone. In bigger cities like Barcelona party goers will celebrate in the main square passing around grapes and bottles of cava for everyone to enjoy. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Spanish: "Feliz Año Nuevo!"

Metal Casting – Finland. In Finland, people like to try their hand at fortune-telling with tin and water. In commemoration of the end of the year, tradition is to cast molten tin into the water and see how it forms. If the tin looks more like a heart, you're in for love the coming year ... if the metal is shaped more like a pig ... the coming year will be full of food and abundance. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Finnish: "Hyvää Uutta Votta!"

Empty Suitcase Walks – Colombia. Looking for a perfect NYE tradition to begin this year? With the halt of travel around the globe (pandemic), this one may be the way to go. In hopes of a travel filled New Year, Colombians carry empty suitcases around their block ... a tradition worth doing in 2022. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Spanish: "Feliz Año Nuevo!"

Smashed Plates – Denmark. Residents of Denmark bring in the New Year in quite a unique way. On the eve of the New Year, plates and glasses are thrown against the doors of family and friends ... to banish evil spirits. Legend goes that the more smashed plates, the better. So, if you're in Denmark and wind up with a pile of smashed ceramic on your doorstep January 1, it is a sign of good luck. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Danish: "Godt Nytår!"

Circles, Spheres and Dots – The Philippines. In the Philippines, they bring the old year full circle with the use of things spherical and circular. Throughout the gorgeous Southeast Asian island country, you'll find round shapes of every kind in the New Year's Eve season. Most commonly represented are coins to symbolize the prosperity of the coming year. Additionally, many locals don polka dot outfits for good luck. Wish your friends and family a Happy New Year in Filipino: "Maligayang Bagong Taon!"

A Few Traditional New Year's Foods Around the World

Hoppin' John – Southern US. This quintessential Southern NYE dish consists of black-eyed peas, pork and rice. The peas and pork play a special role in this classic New Years dish. The black-eyed peas symbolize coins, the pork represents prosperity and the rice – well, it makes a great bed for the two.

Oliebollen – The Netherlands. Oliebollen are eaten in copious amounts on New Year's Eve across the Netherlands. These tiny spheres similar to doughnuts are made with sweet dough that's peppered through with raisins or currants. Once deep-fried they are dusted with a bit of powdered sugar.

Soba Noodles – Japan. In Japan, it's customary to slurp up some brothy soba noodles on New Year's Eve. The symbolism is related to bidding farewell to last year and wishing longevity in the New Year. The most popular Japanese noodle dish for NYE is easily Toshikoshi soba. The name translates directly to 'year crossing buckwheat noodle' and is eaten in Japanese homes across the nation. Spins on the soupy noodles vary by region, but most commonly they are topped with fried fish cakes or tempura.

Marzipanschwein – Germany. If there's one thing Germans seem to love when it comes to food, it's pork. New Year's Eve and New Year's Day are no exception, either. However, in addition to a suckling pig at dinner, you'll find adorable little treats called Marzipanschwein. These good luck pigs or 'Glücksschwein' are pig shaped treats that symbolize the prosperity pigs are thought to bring and usually given as gifts.
